Placement Procedure

The EPGP participants have extensive domain knowledge and have come from diverse industries such as IT & ITES, Power, Manufacturing, Automobile, Finance, Telecommunication, Media, Oil and Gas, Infrastructure, FMCG and Consulting. Recruitment is targeted to fill mid-level and top-level executive positions. To meet recruiters' requirements, the EPGP office and placement committee facilitate the process of candidate assessment and subsequent selection all year round.

Pre-Placement Talk

1

- The EPGP placement committee works with the recruiter to schedule a Pre-placement talk (PPT).
- A PPT is an opportunity for the recruiters to understand the batch dynamics and to connect with the candidates. In the PPT, the recruiter shares key aspects of his/her organisation and employment opportunities available to the candidate.
- The talk is followed by a Q&A session, wherein the recruiter addresses the queries of the candidates. The EPGP placement committee then collaborates with the recruiter to finalise best possible dates to drive the placement process further.

Applications & Shortlist

- After the PPT, the recruiter floats the job description (JD), and interested candidates then send their detailed profiles to the placement committee.
- The recruiter, aided by the placement committee (if necessary), subsequently shortlists the eligible candidates, following which this list is sent to EPGP office at least one week prior to the start of the interview process.

Candidate Interviews

- The recruiter initiates interview process for the shortlisted candidates on the dates agreed with the placement committee, and is allowed to interact and assess the shortlisted candidates before the final interviews.
- This recruitment process usually completes within 4 to 5 weeks from the start of PPT.

Negotiations on compensation and other terms of employment between the recruiter and the candidate should be strictly confidential. Once concluded, recruiter is requested to inform the EPGP placement office of the outcome of these interactions.

Normally, the recruiter sends the official offer letter to the EPGP office within a period of 10 days from the date of selection.

The acceptance of an offer is subject to the directives set by the EPGP office.
