Message from the Chair

Business environment has been changing rapidly globally. To fulfil the unmet need of HR managers who are ready to respond effectively to those changes, Indian Institute of Management Indore launched the two-year full-time residential post graduate programme in human resource management in 2018. The design of the programme based on a vigorous debate among the industry leaders from public and private sector and organizations and faculty members, incorporating emerging trends in human resource management and business education, and integrating insights from analytics and behavioural sciences, is quite unique in the country. Students of this programme have a good understanding of the business rationalities that drive human behaviour in organizations and techniques through which they can deploy an analytic orientation in understanding human behaviour in organizations and shaping evidence-based interventions. They are empowered to draw upon psychometric instruments and applied psychological tools in shaping human relations within organizations. They are now ready to integrate their conceptual learnings with the world of practice to emerge as grounded and immersed professionals who can understand how they can continue to learn in ways which blend advances in theory with state of the art practice. I invite your collaboration and support in hiring a new wave of HR professionals who are analytically skilled, have a strong understanding of business rationalities, are rooted in an empathetic understanding of the human condition in organisations, while retaining a grounded understanding of labour regulations and a proactive industrial relations approach. As Chairperson of the programme, I am more than convinced that graduates of the PGP-HRM will add tremendous value to the organizations that they choose to go to and contribute for the development of the nation.

Summer Internship Program

Each participant of the PGP-HRM is required to undergo an internship spanning a duration of 8 weeks after the completion of the first academic year. Aimed at supplementing classroom knowledge with practical insight, the summer internship program enables the participant to reflect on their learnings from the first academic year and to move to their specialized studies in the second year with greater understanding of organizational contexts and issues. The summer internship selection processes typically take place post the completion of the first academic trimester (generally towards end of September). The internship, which generally spans the months of April and May, is an effective learning bridge for the participant in the transition from first to the second academic year.

Industry Interface Program

Built into the academic requirements of the PGP-HRM, the Industry Interface Program (IIP) is a block fieldwork of 1-month duration after the completion of the fourth academic trimester (typically during the month of September). The IIP offers participants an opportunity to apply the knowledge of HR domain that they have acquired from studying their foundational courses in the 4th trimester. During this one month, the participant is involved in a project in an organization, completely immersed in ground realities of the workplace and the challenges & constraints inherently present in the daily functions of the organization. It is essential that the participants gain a practical perspective to supplement the knowledge of new-age practices in corporate behemoths across the world, and the IIP delivers in the participants' learning journey as part of the HRM program. In addition to corporate exposure, several students of the program are often located in manufacturing plants during their IIP to enable them to understand issues pertaining to industrial relations, which is an important aspect of human resource management.

Industry Associations

HR Conclave

The HR Conclave at IIM Indore is typically conducted in the month of November every year, and witnesses participation from HR leaders from a wide range of industries. Consisting of keynote sessions by top leaders from the industry, thought-provoking panel discussions, and opportunities for students to engage in informal interactions with industry stalwarts, the conclave aims to discuss and help participants reflect on contemporary ideas in organizations of today. In the past editions of the conclave, the areas of discussion include, but are not limited to changing roles of HR in organizations, future of work, diversity and inclusion in contemporary organizations, and advent & possible implications of cutting-edge technology in HR.

Guest Lectures, Workshops and Electives by Industry Leaders

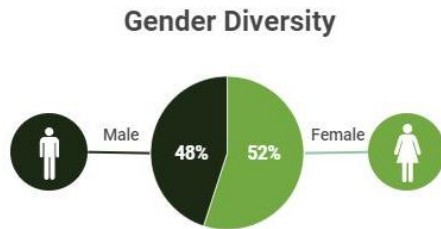

To provide for a healthy mix of knowledge dissemination from academicians and industry experts, the program is filled with frequent guest lectures and workshops, spanning over the two years of the course of study. These sessions are aimed at providing students with practical insight from the real-life experience of a host of industry leaders, while enabling opportunities for engagement with the organizations they belong to in the form of projects.
