Profile Summary: I am a Product Manager with over a decade of diverse experience spanning product management, education, and technology. Currently leading product innovation at Reliance Jio, I specialize in IoT-based smart street lighting solutions, where I have driven the development of scalable digital platforms, intelligent reporting systems, and user-centric portals for large-scale deployments. My core expertise includes product strategy, agile development, cross-functional leadership, and data-informed decision-making.

Prior to my current role, I held impactful positions in education and recruitment at Teach for India and TIME Institute, where I mentored aspiring MBA candidates and managed talent acquisition initiatives. I began my career as a Systems Engineer at TCS, gaining hands-on experience in quality assurance and test automation.

An alumna of IIM Shillong and currently pursuing a PhD in Strategic Management at IIM Indore, I combine academic rigor with practical execution. I bring a strong focus on design thinking, public sector digital transformation, and stakeholder alignment.
