About Resource

Scopus is the resource that combines a comprehensive, highly managed abstract and citation database with enriched data and connected scholarly literature from a wide range of fields. Scopus finds relevant and authoritative research instantly, identifies experts and provides access to trustworthy data, metrics, and analytical tools.

This screenshot shows the home page of the IIM Indore Learning Centre. The header includes the IIM Indore logo and navigation links: About, Programmes, Faculty, Research & Publications, Facilities, Executive Education, Placements, and News & Events. A large banner image of a building is at the top. Below it, a navigation bar contains links like 'Home / Facilities / Learning Centre (LC)'. A central menu lists various resources: ABOUT THE LEARNING CENTRE, BOOKS, DATABASES ON TRIAL, DOWNLOADS, EXTERNAL MEMBERSHIP, JOURNALS, MAGAZINES & NEWSPAPERS (PRINT), ELECTRONIC RESOURCES, SERVICES, COPYRIGHT, and HOW TO CHECK YOUR IIMILC ACCOUNT ONLINE. The 'ELECTRONIC RESOURCES' link is highlighted with a red box. At the bottom, there's a 'Welcome to IIM Indore Learning Centre' message and a search bar.

- If you are using Scopus for the first time, click Create account.
- Register with your official email ID and set a password.
- If redirected to OpenAthens or facing issues, try creating the account in Incognito mode (Chrome).
- After account creation, you can access Scopus normally in Chrome.

The screenshot shows the Scopus Main Page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Scopus logo, a search bar, and links for Sources, SciVal, and a help icon. A red box highlights the 'Create account' button, and a blue box highlights the 'Sign in' button. Below the navigation bar, the main content area is titled 'Start exploring' and features tabs for Documents, Authors, Researcher Discovery, Organizations, and Scopus AI (marked as 'New'). The 'Documents' tab is active, showing a search bar with the text 'Search within Article title, Abstract, Keywords' and a 'Search documents' button. Below the search bar, there are links for '+ Add search field', '+ Add date range', and 'Advanced document search'. A 'Search History' section is visible, listing several search queries with checkboxes and document counts. A sign-in overlay is displayed on the right side of the page. The overlay has a title 'Sign in' and a subtitle 'Enter your password to sign in to Scopus'. It contains a red box around the 'Email' field with the text 'ayushjain@iimdr.ac.in' and a 'Password' field. Below the password field is a 'Forgot password?' link. There is a checkbox for 'Stay signed in (not recommended for shared devices)'. A red box highlights the 'Sign in' button. Below the button is a link for 'Sign in with a one-time link'. At the bottom of the overlay are links for 'Try another account' and 'Get help with access'.

After Login

- Once logged in, your name appears on the top-right corner.
- Enter any keyword (e.g., Artificial Intelligence) in the search bar and click Search.
- A list of related documents will be displayed.
- Use the Filters on the left side (Year, Author, Subject, Source, etc.) to refine and narrow down results.

Scopus AI is an intuitive and intelligent search tool powered by generative AI (GenAI) that delivers insights with unprecedented speed and clarity. It searches the abstracts of documents in Scopus for terms that match your query. It then synthesizes the key points in those abstracts into an easy-to-follow summary.

SCOPUS AI

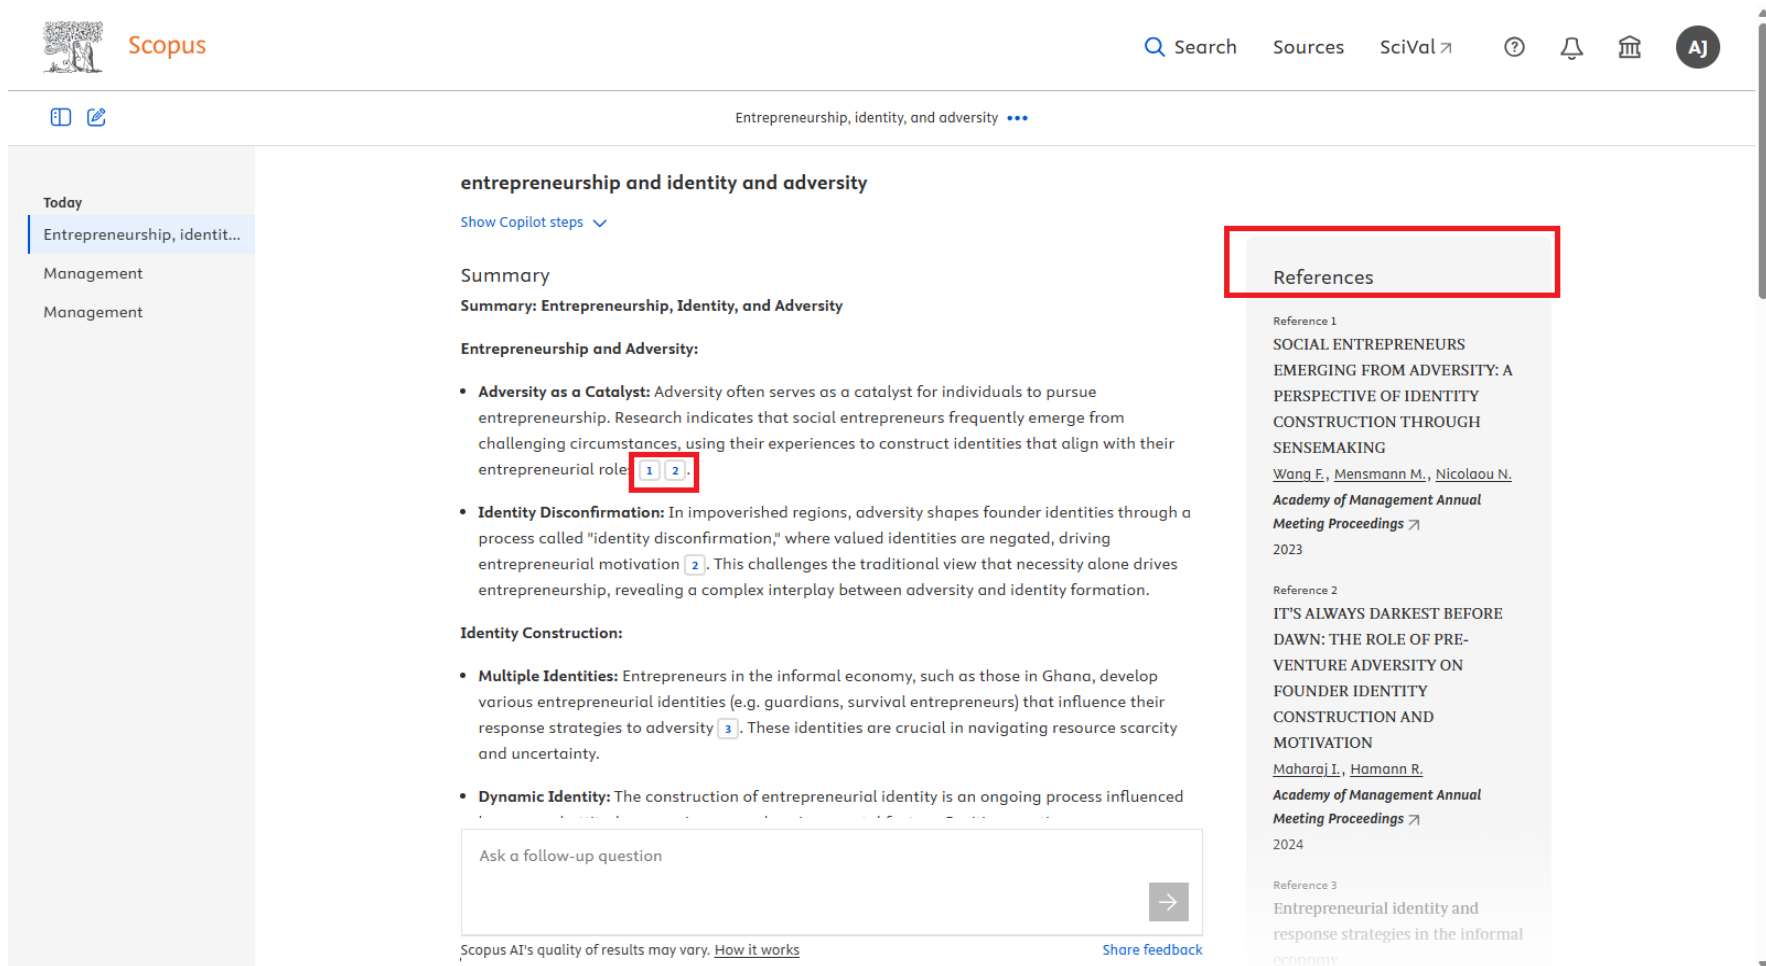

- As shown in the image, go to Scopus, click on 'Scopus AI', enter your query, and click the arrow to proceed with the search.

The screenshot shows the Scopus AI interface. At the top left is the Scopus logo. The top navigation bar includes links for Search, Sources, SciVal, and a user profile icon labeled 'AJ'. Below the navigation bar, the 'Start exploring' section features a horizontal menu with 'Documents', 'Authors', 'Researcher Discovery', 'Organizations', and 'Scopus AI'. The 'Scopus AI' option is highlighted with a red box and a 'New' badge. Below this menu is a 'Temporary conversation' toggle switch. The main search area is titled 'Explore topics and discover relevant references since 2003'. It contains a text input field with the query 'entrepreneurship and identity and adversity', which is also highlighted with a red box. Below the input field is a 'Deep research' toggle switch and a blue arrow button, which is highlighted with a red box. Below the search area is a 'Show conversation history' link. The 'Conversation examples' section lists three sample queries: 'What impact do microplastic pollutants have on marine biodiversity in coastal regions?', 'How can international cooperation be improved to effectively address global climate change?', and 'How does chronic sleep deprivation affect cognitive decline in aging populations?'. At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with links for 'About Scopus', 'Language', and 'Customer Service'. A disclaimer at the bottom left states: 'Scopus AI's quality of results may vary. Summary

Summary: Entrepreneurship, Identity, and Adversity

Entrepreneurship and Adversity:

- Adversity as a Catalyst: Adversity often serves as a catalyst for individuals to pursue entrepreneurship. Research indicates that social entrepreneurs frequently emerge from challenging circumstances, using their experiences to construct identities that align with their entrepreneurial role [1] [2].
- Identity Disconfirmation: In impoverished regions, adversity shapes founder identities through a process called "identity disconfirmation," where valued identities are negated, driving entrepreneurial motivation [2]. This challenges the traditional view that necessity alone drives entrepreneurship, revealing a complex interplay between adversity and identity formation.

Identity Construction:

- Multiple Identities: Entrepreneurs in the informal economy, such as those in Ghana, develop various entrepreneurial identities (e.g. guardians, survival entrepreneurs) that influence their response strategies to adversity [3]. These identities are crucial in navigating resource scarcity and uncertainty.
- Dynamic Identity: The construction of entrepreneurial identity is an ongoing process influenced

Abstract

While research has shown that social entrepreneurs can emerge from adversity, we still know very little about how adversity leads an individual to become a social entrepreneur. Our study uses a grounded theory approach and primarily relies on podcast data to develop a model that explains how individuals construct identities relevant to being social entrepreneurs through sensemaking of adversity. Our findings contribute to social entrepreneurship literature and the research on sensemaking and identity. © 2023, Academy of Management. All rights reserved.
